

Big Three's White Paper Handed Reds

Western Powers' Language Strongest Short Of War Bid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—The Western Powers today used the strongest language short of a declaration of war to accuse Premier Stalin of double dealing and the Soviet government of "illegal and coercive measures."

The grave charges were contained in a 24,000 word "White Paper," agreed upon by the U. S., Britain and France, which was released early this morning after they broke off negotiations on the Berlin blockade.

In effect, the Western Big Three served notice that they will remain in Berlin despite a warning by Russia that it will try to stop the airlift to the German capital.

The Allies said the Berlin issue must be settled by the United Nations as a threat to international peace.

In stern language, the White Paper said:

"The issue is that the Soviet government has clearly shown by its actions that it is attempting by illegal and coercive measures in disregard of its obligations to secure political objectives to which it is not entitled and which it could not achieve by peaceful means."

"IT HAS threatened the Berlin population with starvation, disease and economic ruin."

"It has tolerated disorders and attempted to overthrow the duly elected municipal government of Berlin."

The White Paper's marshaling of charges against the Soviet government was in support of the flat statement that "peaceful settlement of the Berlin dispute is no longer possible."

This was the most significant conclusion drawn, since it will enable the Western Powers to place the dispute before the United Nations General Assembly in Paris with the statement that possibilities of peaceful settlement have been exhausted.

The effect before the United Nations would be to declare the Berlin dispute a "threat to international peace" and to ask that the UN invoke Article 39, providing for settlement of such disputes with economic and diplomatic sanctions.

The white paper went further to accuse Premier Stalin personally of going back on his word. A Stalin offer of Aug. 2, accepted by the Western Powers, was set forth as follows:

"There should be a simultaneous introduction in Berlin of the Soviet Zone Deutsche Mark in place of the Western Mark B, together with the removal of all transport restrictions."

The Stalin directive, by mutual agreement, was turned over for detailed development by the military governors in Berlin. But Soviet Marshal Sokolovsky refused to accept any four-power control of currency, and in addition demanded Soviet control of the airlift.

To the "astonishment" of the Western powers, when they appealed to Moscow, the Soviet government backed up Sokolovsky's interpretation of the Stalin offer.

ON SEPT. 22, the Western Powers sent identical notes to Moscow declaring they could not accept Sokolovsky's interpretation. Moscow replied, also by notes, that Soviet control of air traffic to Berlin was necessary. The latter note, last of those reproduced in the lengthy White Paper, was delivered to the U. S. State Department only last Saturday by Soviet Ambassador Panyushkin.

The challenge contained in the Soviet note was accepted in the U. S. reply delivered late yesterday to the Russian embassy in Washington.

The United States note was delivered after the Western Powers announced in Paris that they would bring the case before the United Nations Security Council.

U.S. Defense Plants To Require 300,000 Workers Next 10 Months

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 — Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman declared today that 300,000 additional workers will be required in America's defense industries within the next 10 months.

Steelman made the statement before President Truman's Conference on Industrial Safety. The group is attempting to work out ways and means of reducing the tremendous annual toll of deaths and accidents among workers in this country.

Steelman said that the workers required would be used in the "aircraft, shipbuilding, munitions and other related industries." He said:

"We know that America's overall manpower reserves should be adequate to meet this demand. But the job injuries occurring last year alone deprived us of the production of two-and-a-half times this number."

MR. TRUMAN, meanwhile, told the conference that "every year 16 to 18 thousand workers lose their lives, and 90 thousand more are permanently crippled in industrial accidents."

The President added, in a message read by Steelman, declared:

"This great national tragedy must be stopped. We must not

17 More To Get Writs From Jury

LANCASTER, Sept. 27 — The score was 10 down and 17 to go today in the arrests ordered by the Fairfield County grand jury investigating the "hot ham" and gambling cases in Lancaster.

Sheriff Harley Higley said he would serve more warrants today after a one-day layoff because those arrested would not have been able to post bond on Sunday.

The three arrested Saturday were Dr. J. Russell Stuke, dentist and operator of the Fairfield Inn; Denver Ball, Stuke's manager; and Mell McClanahan, owner of McClanahan's restaurant.

Dr. Stuke and Ball were charged with receiving property stolen from the Swift and Co. plant in Columbus, and McClanahan was charged with promoting a game of chance.

Hard Labor Given Four

7 Others Due For Arraignment

Four men were sentenced to hard labor in the Mansfield reformatory and the Ohio penitentiary Monday morning after entering guilty pleas Friday in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Thomas Lane and Dale Figley, both 18, of San Pedro, Cal., were handed one to 20 year sentences in the Mansfield institution for auto larceny.

Confinement in the Mansfield reformatory from one to seven years was the sentence meted out to William Sark, 26, of Circleville, for grand larceny involving the theft of a $300 diamond ring.

The fourth man, William Cartney, 41, of Ashville, was given one to three years in the Ohio penitentiary for non-support of his three minor children. All were indicted last week by Pickaway County grand jury.

SEVEN OTHER, who also were indicted by grand jury, will appear Tuesday for arraignment before Judge William D. Radcliff.

Wallace Aides In Dutch Again On Ohio Ballot

COLUMBUS, Sept. 27 — Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel issued an order to all Ohio election officials today which put the Henry A. Wallace electors right back with the "forgotten man."

Hummel told the officials to withhold all instructions to boards of election on the marking of ballots until word was received from his office.

This amounted to a virtual countermand of the instructions sent out Sept. 21 by Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins.

Hummel pointed out that a lawsuit already had been filed in Allen County over Jenkins' ruling that a mark at the top of a party column plus a mark for a Wallace elector, meant a vote only for the Wallace name.

The secretary of state said several boards of election already had protested that this added up to a vote for 26 instead of the legal 25 electors and therefore invalidated the ballot. Hummel said there would be no vote-counting instructions issued until the Allen County case is decided.

Bevin Lashes Soviets In UN; Pooh-Poohs Reds' Sincerity

PARIS, Sept. 27—British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin warned the world today that Soviet Russia will be to blame if "the black fury of an atomic war falls upon us."

In a blistering attack on Soviet policy before the United Nations, Bevin told Russia to choose between peaceful cooperation through the United Nations and the old system of building rival national blocs.

Bevin questioned Russia's sincerity, and expressed doubt as to whether the Soviet Union really wants world peace.

He cited Lenin's declaration, endorsed by Stalin, that Soviet republics cannot live alongside imperialist states without war.

Bevin told the delegates that the West is tired of "specious resolutions" submitted by Russia for their propaganda value. Then he warned:

"If the black fury of an atomic war falls upon us, all I can say is that one power by refusing its cooperation in the control and development of great new forces for the good of humanity will be alone responsible for the evils which may be visited on mankind."

UNLESS Russia cooperates, he said, the West will be forced to form mutual defense alliances.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 27—The government-controlled Argentine press bluntly accused the United States today of instigating a plot to assassinate President Juan D. Peron.

The violent newspaper attacks on the U. S. were a follow-up to an inflammatory speech by Peron three days ago in which he claimed that "foreign capitalistic concerns" ordered his murder.

Mama Bear Gets Eager, Escapes In Try To Find Her Winter Home

DENVER, Sept. 27—Winter is not far away, and Margaret, the mama bear at Denver's City Park Zoo, knows it.

Margaret, who has spent the summer on the monkey island with her two cubs, became over enthusiastic about hibernating yesterday, and led police quite a chase after she escaped from her moat-enclosed home.

Two high school boys visiting in the park heard a confusing commotion near the monkey cages, which stand just across the moat and a wide side walk from the bears' Summer home.

The boys, Dick Peterson and Sam Mills, investigated, and were startled when Margaret's bulky form clambered over the moat wall.

He lashed out particularly against Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky's charge Saturday that the United States and Britain are plotting an atomic war against Russia.

2 Brothers Hurt Badly

Auto Overturns On Route 104

Two brothers are in a Columbus hospital, one in critical condition, after their car overturned Sunday afternoon near the John Keller farm on Route 104.

Listed as critical by Mt. Carmel hospital aides was Thurston Cooley, 17, of Williston, who was a passenger in the automobile driven by his brother, Melvin Cooley, 23. The latter is in fair condition, attaches reported.

Two others riding with Cooley when the accident occurred, Lonnie Stone and James Dyer, both of Vanceburg, Ky., escaped injury.

State Highway Patrolman C. E. Wells said the driver suffered a possible neck fracture and numerous lacerations and bruises. The younger Cooley youth received a fractured right thigh, chest and head injuries, it was reported.

THE ACCIDENT happened about 2:45 p. m. one mile south of the intersection of Routes 316 and 104. Wells said, when Cooley lost control of his vehicle on a turn and overturned four times.

Young Cooley, who was riding beside his brother, was thrown free of the car about 25 feet away. Force of the crash tossed his body over a fence, the patrolman stated.

The occupants were removed to the hospital in an E. F. Schlegel ambulance from Ashville.

Mrs. Grace Ross of Vandergriff, Va., was given medical treatment and released Sunday from Berger hospital after she was involved in an automobile accident on Route 23 when her car reportedly was hit from the rear by an auto driven by William Dandy of Charleston, W. Va.

'KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY'

Truman Says World Peace Is Most Important Thing

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 27—President Truman cast a worried eye today on the critical impasse with Russia over Berlin as he continued his campaign in Texas.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross disclosed last night that the chief executive "thoroughly approved" of the three-power note rejecting the Soviet demand for control of the Berlin air corridor.

Ross's disclosure came after Mr. Truman suddenly launched into a statement on the latest move of the Western Powers while making an informal address at a dinner of Democratic leaders in San Antonio.

The President opened his talk, delivered without prepared text, with a few remarks about the bravery of those who had died at the Alamo. Then, he declared:

"KEEP YOUR bullets in order and your powder dry."

The sudden break caught newsmen by surprise. They had not been informed of the three-power action in rejecting Moscow's demands and throwing the controversy into the UN Security Council.

Mr. Truman lamented the fact that some common ground could not be found to settle the difficulties of the world. He said:

"I believe that if we ourselves try to live as we should and if we continue to work for peace in this world and as the old Puritan said, 'keep your bullets in order and your powder dry,' eventually we will get peace in this world, because that is the only way we can survive with the modern inventions under which we live."

The chief executive said his only ambition, his only interest in life, is to achieve worldwide peace. He declared:

"That is much more important than whether I am President of the United States."

Meanwhile, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey returned to Oregon, the state which four months ago gave him his biggest push to

West May Move 500,000 Germans From W. Berlin

PARIS, Sept. 27—The Western Powers were reported today considering a mass evacuation of more than half a million Germans from West Berlin because of the continuing Soviet blockade.

Authoritative sources in Paris said that the planned mass aerial movement—which would be the greatest in history—would serve a two fold purpose.

First, it would reduce the food requirement for the western sectors of Berlin, currently dependent entirely on the Anglo-American airlift.

Secondly, if the Western Powers should lose effective control of their sectors, it would save thousands of German families who cooperated with the West from possible death or sentencing to forced labor.

Gang Abducts 5 Wallaceites

AUGUSTA, Sept. 27—Georgia authorities sought today the identities of the men who abducted five Progressive Party workers here.

The five were found last night in Grovetown, Ga., but refused to talk to police without the advice of attorneys.

They were identified as Forbes Hill, Betty Ann Kimmel and Ann Leathers, all of Atlanta; Gaye Loring of New York City, and Dorothy Dean of Washington, D. C.

Neighbors told authorities about 50 men broke into the home of J. W. Gitt and overpowered the Wallace supporters who had been campaigning for the third party in Georgia.

Blaze Levels Dublin Hill Farm House

2 Small Brothers Escape Tragedy

An 11-month-old baby boy was killed about noon Monday when fire leveled his Perry township farm home.

Friends of the family identified the baby as Larry Fyffe, who would have been a year old next month.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dessel Fyffe who live on Williamsport Route 2 in the Dublin Hill community about five miles northwest of Williamsport.

Witnesses reported that the baby, Larry, and his two brothers, Reuben and Bobb, both too young for school, were alone in the 6-room frame farm home when the fire broke out.

CIRCUMSTANCES surrounding cause of the blaze were unclear early Monday afternoon.

However, the two older boys ran from the house when the fire broke out and called to their mother who was working in a nearby cornfield.

In their terror, they fled the house without giving assistance to the baby who lay in a crib.

The house was razed completely although the Williamsport and New Holland volunteer fire departments made every effort to bring the blaze under control.

The father, an employee of the J. W. Eshelman and Sons Co., was at work in Circleville when the tragedy occurred.

The Fyffe home was part of farm property owned by Hoyt Ater, Williamsport Route 2.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff was summoned to the scene immediately but had not completed his investigation as the Monday edition of The Herald went to press.

Funeral arrangements for the baby were incomplete. The baby's body was not immediately recovered.

Big 3 Ready To Hale Reds Before UN Panel

PARIS, Sept. 27—The United States, Britain, and France prepared a note today hailing Russia before the United Nations Security Council for threatening world peace by its blockade of Berlin.

The note, being drawn up by Big Three deputies, brands the Soviet Union as a violator of the United Nations charter. It is expected to be submitted to the UN tonight.

Normally, there is a three-day wait between submission of a complaint and the calling of a Security Council meeting. But it was thought that the council might be summoned into emergency session by Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan, this month's president.

Invoking Chapter VII of the charter, the note would pave way for possible military, economic and political sanctions against Russia.

BUT RUSSIA still maintains her veto power in the council under the charter to be used, and it is viewed as certain that she will either walk out of the council while the issue is being discussed, or veto any decision.

Some sources speculated that the Western move to air the Berlin dispute publicly may lead

Studebaker Says No Intention Label FSA 'Red'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Former Education Commissioner John W. Studebaker today disclaimed any intention of accusing Federal Security Administration "censors" of having pro-Communist leanings.

Studebaker, in resigning last Summer charged that an aide to FSA Administrator Oscar Ewing required that a government educator "tone down" an anti-Communist speech.

Today he told the Senate Ferguson committee that the comment created impressions which "did not adequately represent" his purpose.

The former education chief declared that his blast was aimed at "centralization" in which FSA, an over-all agency which includes the Office of Education, took over "censorship" of functions which the educators previously had administered.

By a reshuffling of editorial and information personnel, FSA Administrator Ewing transferred 17 education personnel into a "pool" directly responsible to the FSA.

Studebaker told the committee: "I did not say, nor did I mean to imply, that Administrator Ewing or anyone else in FSA is a Communist or a pro-Communist."

17 More To Get Writs From Jury

LANCASTER, Sept. 27—The score was 10 down and 17 to go today in the arrests ordered by the Fairfield County grand jury investigating the "hot ham" and gambling cases in Lancaster.

Sheriff Harley Highley said he would serve more warrants today after a one-day layoff because those arrested would not have been able to post bond on Sunday.

The three arrested Saturday were Dr. J. Russell Stuke, dentist and operator of the Fairfield Inn; Denver Ball, Stuke's manager; and Mell McClanahan, owner of McClanahan's restaurant.

Dr. Stuke and Ball were charged with receiving property stolen from the Swift and Co. plant in Columbus, and McClanahan was charged with promoting a game of chance.

bomb and cut armaments by one-third, Bevin said:

"It looks to me like a proposal to disarm the rest of the world while the Soviet Union maintains secrecy about its own military strength."

The Briton told the delegates of 53 nations that Russia now holds the key to war or peace. He said:

"We've no objection to the Soviet Union being a Communist state, and no objection to America being Capitalist. We claim the right to develop our own well-being."

"If this can be conceded then a good deal of the cause of conflict can be removed."

Bevin himself threw cold water on the possibility of negotiating with the Soviet Union, by noting that it is difficult to take Soviet professions in good faith.

THE WEST is cooperating peacefully, he said, without ever suggesting an attack on Russia. But he warned that it will take measures to defend itself. He said:

"If the Soviet Union is living in fear of joining in an attack on their territory, they may rest in peace. We shall never do it."

"If on the other hand, having secured territory, of other states, they prepare to use it in an attack on us, then a very difficult situation is created in which we can only look to our own defense."

Bevin received a brief ovation when he departed from his prepared text to attack Soviet secrecy. He appealed fervently:

"Let's open up our nations to inspection. Let's let light come in."

His speech drew heavy applause from all nations except the stolid Soviet bloc.

Steelman said that the U. S. "has urgent need for high production to meet domestic, preparedness and foreign commitments." He asserted:

"We must conserve manpower. It is as important now as it was during the war when by co-operative action, we were the Labor Secretary Tobin who also addressed the meeting said that every four minutes an American worker loses his life or becomes permanently disabled while one worker is injured every 16 seconds.

Base Conversion Being Considered

FRANKFURT, Sept. 27—Authoritative sources said today that the Rhein-Main airport near Frankfurt may be converted to exclusive military use to bolster the airlift to Berlin.

These informants said such a step may become necessary because of increased Soviet efforts to hamper "Operation Vittles" and the more difficult winter flying conditions.

They said elimination of commercial landings at the airport, which average 20 a day, would permit a 600-ton daily increase in the amount of food, fuel and other supplies flown by U. S. Air Force planes to the beleaguered former German capital.

Russia to quit the United Nations completely.

United Nations circles viewed the breakdown of the Big Four negotiations as a political convulsion of the first magnitude. It was stressed that the Western Powers must regard the Berlin crisis as extremely dangerous in order to take the step ending the Moscow talks.

The seriousness with which the U. S., Britain and France view the situation is emphasized by the stiff language used in their note to Russia yesterday— notifying the Soviets that the Berlin issue is to be submitted to the Security Council—and in the White Paper reviewing the history of the crisis.

The White Paper charged that Marshal Sokolovsky reneged on Premier Stalin's commitment to lift the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Authoritative sources said that the West will bring charges against Russia under Article 39 of Chapter VII. This authorized the council to determine the existence of any "threat to the peace, breach of the peace, or act of aggression."

It also provides that the council shall "decide what measures shall be taken, in accordance with Articles 41 and 42, to maintain or restore international peace and security."

ARTICLES 41 and 42 relate to military, economic, and political sanctions.

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall meets again with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman today to determine the exact Western strategy in the Security Council.

There was no question but that the long-heralded East-West showdown is at hand, and that the UN is faced with its gravest problem to date.

The three Western foreign ministers may decide to take over their nation's seats in the Security Council themselves for the Berlin debate instead of leaving it to their deputies.

Kentuckian Held In Morals Case

Pickaway County authorities are holding Clarence Crabtree, 25, of Louisa, Ky., for cohabitation with a 20-year-old Columbus girl and her 15-year-old sister.

In a signed statement, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said Crabtree admitted living in common law with the older girl as man and wife on a Scioto Township farm. Crabtree also reportedly admitted "having carnal knowledge" of the younger sister during a tryst in a Columbus rooming house. The affidavit for Crabtree's arrest was filed by Charles Beitz, father of the girls.

'Cat' Burglar Nabbed By Cops

BROCKTON, Mass. — Two Brockton police officers got credit for nabbing the city's "cat" burglar, but he was never booked at police headquarters.

Two officers heard loud noises from the front of a hardware store. They edged their way past lawnmowers and garbage pails, and suddenly they found their "burglar." It was a cat, all right with five small fish hooks imbedded in its nose.

Famed Chaplain Visiting Here

The Rev. David McDonald of Fitching, Mass., who served as rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church here more than 25 years ago, was visiting old friends in Circleville Monday.

During World War II he was a celebrated chaplain of the U. S. Navy and stationed in New York City. At the present he is assistant rector of an Episcopal church in Massachusetts.

Fred Clark, with whom Rev. Mr. McDonald visited Monday, said the rector was assigned aboard the ill-fated USS Franklin when she was hit by Japanese bombs in the Pacific. The chaplain's heroic action during subsequent fires aboard the big carrier earned him the Congressional Medal of Honor, Clark said.

A nationwide police and army dragnet, aimed at apprehending alleged plotters against Peron resulted in the arrest of at least 24 persons last night.

Meanwhile, Peron's campaign against alleged subversive groups reached into neighboring Uruguay. The pro-Peronista newspaper La Razon asserted that 200 persons involved in the assassination scheme are living in Uruguay.

Currently in Montevideo is John F. Griffiths, a former cultural attaché of the U. S. embassy in Buenos Aires. Griffiths was Peron's leading target last week. The Argentine president accused the American of being the instigator of the plot to kill him and his wife.

BUC Aide Here Urging Work For Handicapped

Pickaway County Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, Monday urged all unemployed and physically handicapped countians available for work to register with that office if they have not already done so.

C. C. Thomas, local manager, also called upon county employers to contact the BUC office here if they are interested in hiring a physically handicapped worker.

The manager made his plea as employer, labor, veteran and government organizations throughout Ohio prepared to launch an all-out campaign for the employment of physically handicapped but otherwise qualified persons, veteran and non-veteran. The drive will reach its peak Oct. 3-9 when communities throughout the state will observe National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Some 10,000 handicapped persons are registered for work with the ninety-one BUC offices throughout Ohio. Of this number, about one-third are veterans.

ABOUT 25,000 handicapped Ohioans currently are either looking for work or are in the process of being rehabilitated for employment.

Thomas pointed out that there were undoubtedly thousands of handicapped Ohioans who were either qualified to hold jobs or eligible for rehabilitation but who were not taking advantage of the facilities of the BUC, the state Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation, the Veterans Administration and other organizations carrying through operative programs on behalf of the handicapped.

Though no reliable record is available as to those handicapped not in the labor market or in the process of rehabilitation, it is estimated that more than 1,000,000 handicapped Americans, including disabled veterans, could be rehabilitated for gainful employment providing that jobs were available.

200,000 Slash In U.S. Payroll List Expected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—GOP Economy Chief Taber revealed today that he expects Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to slash the federal payroll by at least 200,000 employees if elected President.

The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee declared that the 2.1 million employees now on the government's payroll "is easily 200,000 too large."

Taber said he hopes the Republican presidential nominee will reduce the force if he takes over the administration on Jan. 20.

The New York Republican declared several years ago that one million employees should be lopped from the federal payroll in economy. About 300,000 have been let go since the war.

Taber served notice also in an interview that he is prepared to wield his "meat ax" with equal impartiality regardless of what party takes over the White House next year. He stated:

"If the budget is loaded with fat, I would be obligated to try to cut it. I believe in doing business on the square. I play no politics when it comes to economy in government."

CONFUCIUS SAY—

PUT August 27, 1949, down on your calendar. That will be a big day for 400,000,000 people, for then the Chinese will celebrate the 2,500th anniversary of the birth of Confucius. It will interest many outside of China, too, for the great philosopher has been read and admired the world over.

Confucius was perhaps the most practical of all philosophers. He was a successful minister of state, and a shrewd observer of life. His philosophy is a way of life that could be followed by Eskimos and by Congo Negroes. Its essence is the Golden Rule, not put in these words, but for all practical purposes the same. It would be possible to adhere to almost any religion on earth, and to add thereto Confucianism; for there is little in the words of the great Chinese sage that is incompatible with belief in other organized religions.

The rules for society which Confucius laid down have helped to carry China through 2,500 years, often much battered, but still surviving. What other country is there which has survived intact for that long?

EXAMPLE OF CHILDREN

AMERICAN newspaper men in Japan, observing the impact of occupation upon the Japanese populace, declare that American and Japanese children play together in perfect amity.

Youngsters have none of the inhibitions of their elders, and in the free-masonry of childhood are bound by no rules but those of fair play. Baseball and hide-and-seek vie in popularity with Japanese games. American children, surrounded and out-numbered by Japanese youngsters, feel no sense of strangeness and adjust themselves painlessly to their new lives.

If such children were never exposed to race prejudice, they would never be bound by such a handicap. Education toward freedom from race troubles can proceed successfully only if adults remember not to plant the seeds of intolerance in the friendly hearts of children.

WARNING TO DE GAULLE

FRANCE is ripening for a dictatorship, with Gen. Charles De Gaulle as the most likely candidate. The continued failures to get a government that can hold a majority in the Chamber of Deputies are operating just as the Italian parliamentary squabbles did in 1922. Then they aroused so much disgust that little objection was raised when Mussolini marched on Rome and took over the government.

The consequences for Italy, and finally for Mussolini, were disastrous. De Gaulle has the reputation of listening neither to advice nor to experience. But ordinary common sense should tell him that it is a risky thing to impose a dictatorship on a country with a long tradition of freedom.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The British, while short of newsprint, are long on idle facilities to manufacture newsprint. These facilities are not being used because the British do not choose to expend their dollars to import wood pulp. That is their choice and has nothing to do with us, except as they use American dollars, obtained through ERP (now called ECA) which means that the American taxpayer provides the British with the wherewithal to purchase newsprint in competition with American newspapers which do not receive money from their own government as a gift but have to earn it.

Arthur Sulzberger, publisher of The New York Times, had this to say on the subject: "In my judgment, a loss of freedom in Britain would all too quickly be reflected here by comparable curtailment of liberty. We will stand or fall together, and of course it's 'stand' that we intend to do.

"To assist in that purpose, if the British Government will allocate the dollars and the supply of newsprint remains short, we on The New York Times are prepared to give up a percentage of our raw material for British use if other American publishers will do the same."

Cranston Williams of the American Newspaper Publishers Association replied Sulzberger's proposal as follows:

"Whenever the British government wants to authorize use of dollars required by Canada and Newfoundland it is my understanding that newsprint for Britain is available upon receipt of that hard money to care for contracts already existing.

"Further, when the British government sees fit to authorize use of hard money there is pulpwood in Newfoundland available for manufacturing newsprint in Britain."

Sulzberger was undoubtedly responsive to some of the British criticism of the huge daily and Sunday editions of The New York Times while they suffer from newspaper starvation.

The fact is that the British press does not need to suffer this starvation if their socialist government will permit them to buy what they wish. The reason that Sulzberger's proposal was not accepted enthusiastically in London is obvious: the British would still have to purchase the relinquished newsprint.

They are willing to take from ERP or ECA, but they are unwilling to pay in U. S. or Canadian dollars. The American publisher does not want his taxes to compete against him in the purchase of Canadian newsprint which is already at a fabulous price.

In 1941, The New York Times consumed approximately 90,000 tons of newsprint. It is estimated that this year they will use about 144,000 tons, a rise of about 60 percent.

The average rise for all American newspapers is about 29 percent. Maybe the British publishers find these figures hard to take in view of their own shortages, but our newspapers pay their own way and so ought the British newspapers.

MARRY for MONEY

SYNOPSIS
Beautiful model, Gail "Rusty" Rogers, is in love with Sam Meredith, clever devil-may-care reporter, but decides not to marry him. With Sam there would be no settled home life, no security. Instead she accepts the courtship of wealthy Brad Spencer, whom she does not love but greatly respects. She is entirely honest with Brad as to her feelings for Sam, her fear of poverty, her lonely after-dinner thoughts. Brad falls completely in love with her but realizes he has a powerful rival in Sam, whom Rusty cannot forget. Brad's austere Victorian grandmother is greatly worried over his new-found romance.

CHAPTER SEVEN
BRAD came around, bent over his grandmother, and kissed the top of her little head.
"I'm taking Gail Rogers to dinner. Congratulations, me," he said.
"Certainly, if the occasion calls for congratulations. But who on earth is she," asked Mrs. Spencer. "One of the Howard Rogers girls?"
She knew perfectly well that Gail was not of the tribe known to her. In fact, it was down in the diary. She had kept a line a day for some 50 years, she retained all the volumes and sometimes reread them. In these leather-bound books, each surviving five years at a clip, Alexandria recorded her activities but not her emotions. One fairly recent recording read: "Went to fashion show at Waldorf with Bradford. Very dull. Met young woman, a model, named Gail Rogers."

Reading between her own spidery lines she would have remembered that the newer Waldorf had not the atmosphere of the old, that the fashions were perfectly absurd, and she was horrified to find her grandson beaming like a schoolboy at a young woman with obviously no background. She was wholly aware without Bradford's subsequent reminder that many girls in good standing modeled for amusement or a living. But that was not in their favor. If a girl insisted upon exhibiting herself publicly, then her place was on the stage. Quite a few theatrical persons were accepted and even acceptable. But this newer form of exhibitionism affronted Mrs. Spencer.

Brad said pleasantly, "No, she isn't Howard J. L. Rogers' daughter, thank heaven fasting. And you know it perfectly well."
"Are you interested in her?" asked Alexandria blandly.
One of her disconcerting habits was to ask personal questions or make intimate remarks in front of Miss Ellis, or even the domestic staff. She did not consider this lifeline habit ill bred. Rather, she considered the presence of poor Millicent or the servants as nonexistent, when it suited her purpose. And they were so used to it that they no longer were embarrassed by her. She was always kind to them, considerate and pleasant, if sometimes carping a little at what she might consider stupidities. Mrs. Spencer was rude.

Brad said, with her own blandness, "Very much."
"I see," Mrs. Spencer motioned to Millicent to refill her glass, a sign that she was somewhat agitated. She then suggested, "Do bring her to tea."
Brad chuckled. He said warily, "I don't think so. Not that she wouldn't hold her own. I'm sure she would. But I'd hate to expose her to you, darling."
"I am not a germ," said his grandmother loftily.
Brad flipped a hand at her, said, "Good night, Millicent," and went on out. When the door had closed Mrs. Spencer took refuge in the sherry. She said dourly, "This might be serious."
Millicent glowed. She was devoted to Brad, whom she had known since his gaudy days. She clanked her beads and bangles and pushed thoughtfully at her pepper-and-salt bangs. She asked, "Do you suppose he's in love?"
"I don't know."
"He's thirty-two," said Millicent. "What has that to do with it?"
Inquired Alexandria testily. "Really, Millicent, you are an idiot. His manner . . . at the fashion show . . . She reflected, chewing cautiously on a dry biscuit. Her teeth were not all her own and had been very costly. "I've never seen him quite so . . . Her voice trailed off, she had an irritating habit of not finishing a sentence, no worse than her custom of finishing it, if she wished and dotting every i. She added, "She's a very good-looking girl, taller than Brad. I noticed, and quite striking. Good features, and I believe her hair isn't touched up. Very young and looks healthy. No discernible accent," she added, which didn't mean that she fancied Gail had come to New York via Ellis Island . . .
Millicent asked, still fluttering, "You invited her to tea?"
"Why not," inquired her employer with asperity, "as it is more record-breaking crops.

If 1949 production matches 1948 output, this will mean an outlay of five or six billion dollars and maybe more. The law requires loans at 90 percent of parity through 1949 on many commodities.
There could be huge losses. These would arise from the difference between the amount the government loans and the price at which it sells the commodities.

● THE "RED DEAN"—The State department's refusal to grant an American visa to Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the so-called "Red Dean" of Canterbury, was nothing unusual.
It has been the government's policy for some time to deny entry to private individuals who are sponsored by groups considered subversive in the United States.

The case of the British churchman, however, was the first in which the name of a prominent personage has figured.
In most cases, U. S. consuls overseas merely refuse to issue visas in such instances and the matter is then closed. However, when a well-known individual is involved, guidance is sought from Washington.

The State department rejected the request on the grounds that Dr. Johnson would speak under the auspices of the Council for American-Soviet Friendship, an organization which Attorney-General Tom C. Clark has termed subversive.

● ALASKAN PULP—A brief Forestry Service announcement, disclosing the lease of one billion, 500 million cubic feet of Alaskan timber to a pulp and paper firm, had some interesting sidelights.

The company plans to spend between 20 and 30 million dollars to build a mill to produce 500 tons of pulp a day. This is a huge amount in terms of Alaska's meager development.

Moreover, it was the first concrete indication that Alaskan pulp might be developed. Most pulp-paper now comes from Canada or the Scandinavian countries.
Washington observers wondered whether it might not be the key which would unlock the vast and almost untapped resources of mainland Alaska.

Building of Huge Carrier Air Force Foresees Navy Edging Into Atom Picture

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Defense Secretary James Forrestal has spoken the "last word" ordering the Air Force and the Navy to quit bickering over their respective war missions—but, rest assured, the wrangling will continue.

The fight is almost historic now, but whereas in the past it has involved many angles, it now centers around the 65,000-ton supercarrier carrier the Navy is building.

Forrestal's dictum was almost "taken" when the Air Force suddenly heard about the carrier plans. Air Force commanders immediately tabbed the move for what it doubtless is—a Navy attempt to insure itself a place in the atom bomb picture.

Naval aviation leaders had been declaring the carrier, with its planes, could carry the A-bomb further to a target than land-based bombers. The Navy feared the counter-assertion that it had no carrier plane big enough to tote the very heavy atom missile.

So they launched plans for the huge flattop, which will support sizable twin-engine planes capable of doing the job.

The Air Force, under the defense plan assured control of strategic (heavy) bombardment, nevertheless is afraid the Navy would refuse to assign the big carrier to an Air Force mission when requested.

Even if it did, Air Force figures the Navy would get the credit.

Miss Boesiger Becomes Bride Of Robert D. Grubb

The parsonage of First Methodist church was the scene of an impressive wedding ceremony Saturday as the hands of the clock were nearing 5 p. m. when Miss Anna Lou Boesiger of Ashville Route 1 became the bride of Robert D. Grubb of South Court street.

The Rev. Elisha Kneisley officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Boesiger of Ashville Route 1, while her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Grubb of South Court street.

The new Mrs. Grubb repeated nuptial vows in a grey-blue frock with trimmings of blue velvet. At her lapel was a corsage of light pink shattered carnations tied with a silver ribbon.

The couple was attended by Marcus Coffland and Miss Marcella Lanman of Circleville. The bridesmaid wore a teal-blue dress and a corsage of deep pink shattered carnations tied with a blue bow.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception later in the evening in their home near Ashville. Refreshments were served from a table centered by a three-tiered wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Grubb was graduated by Washington Township high school and recently resigned as an employee of The Circleville Herald.

The bridegroom was graduated by Circleville high school and served during World War II in the U. S. Navy. He now is a reporter for The Herald.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the new Mr. and Mrs. Grubb will go to housekeeping in Circleville.

All this talk about maintaining freedom of the press by a handout of newspaper is unsound, because no handout ever won freedom for anybody. Sulzberger's proposal is charitable but it will not solve Great Britain's newsprint problem any more than the original British loan solved her problem of productivity.

Socialism needs to re-learn the lesson that the prosperity of a nation depends upon its ability to produce goods and services, not upon its propagandistic ability to create an attitude favorable to granting loans.

Freedom of the press has existed only in countries where the press has been entirely self-supporting. It has not existed in countries where the government owned or subsidized the press or where its publishers were dependent upon subsidies from political parties. As a matter of fact, as long as the British press is dependent upon its own government or ours for its newsprint, it will not be free. Even British newspapers which own their own forests or mills in Canada may not use them to provide British newspapers because of the policy of their government to restrict their operations.

OSU Turns Eye Toward Southern Cal Battle

COLUMBUS, Sept. 27—Ohio State's Bucks, concentrating on each game as it comes up, were wasting no time today in plunging into preparation for their next weekend guest, Southern to-7 surprise victory over Missouri, Coach Wes Fessler admitted a trace of worry lurked behind his own broad grin. He explained:

"I'm thinking about that next one with Southern California."
The Missouri triumph was just what the physician prescribed for the beleaguered Bucks, who had been awarded the 1948 futility golfball before they even played a game.

Victory over the Tigers was not in itself unusual, the Bucks

Braves Nab NL Pennant; Tribe Leads

AL Card Favors Cleveland '9'

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 — The major league pennant races were being played out today strictly according to the script.

The longest pennant famine in the National League was terminated when the Boston Braves clinched their first National League flag in 34 years by shading the New York Giants, 3 to 2.

In the American League, Cleveland, favored by the late schedule, has taken undisputed possession of first place while the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees were cutting each other's throats.

To put it bluntly, Bob Feller "did it again" in the junior circuit scramble. The great Cleveland ace, who was getting his lumps frequently earlier this season, confirmed his comeback when he held the Detroit Tigers to five hits and won a 4-to-1 decision from Prince Hal Newhouser.

JOE GORDON'S two-run homer helped Rapid Robert rack up his 18th win of the campaign.

Meanwhile, the Yankees gained a tie with Boston for second place, one game behind the Indians, by downing the Red Sox 6 to 2, in the third and rubber contest of their crucial three-game series.

Tommy Byrne, New York's erratic southpaw, held the Sox to five hits in scoring his first victory over them. Tommy Henrich led the New York attack with a two-run homer and two singles.

Bob Elliott's three-run homer, and grid-edged relief pitching by Glenda Nelson Potter, American League castoff, featured the Braves' win over the Giants.

The National League scramble now revolves itself into a three-way battle for second place, with the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers only one game ahead of the fourth-place Pittsburgh Pirates, and the St. Louis Cardinals sandwiched in between.

Brooklyn downed the Phillies again, 5 to 1, behind Ralph Brancaccio's five-hit pitching.

Alpha Brazle, the elongated St. Louis southpaw, held the Chicago Cubs to four hits and beat them, 5 to 2.

PITTSBURGH gained ground by beating Cincinnati twice, 8 to 6 and 8 to 5, darkness halting the nightcap after eight innings. Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh strong boy, took the lead in the major league homerun derby by hitting No. 40.

Randy Gumpert of the Chicago White Sox pitched a six-hitter and blanked the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 0.

Saints Holding Two-Tilt Edge Over Columbus

ST. PAUL, Sept. 27—The St. Paul Saints were two games up on the Columbus Red Birds in the American Association play-off finals today.

The Apostles edged the Birds, 2 to 1, yesterday with Pat McGlothlin outpitching Clarence Beers of the Birds. Both teams had five hits.

Tonight, the third game will be played in St. Paul. Then, the two clubs will shift to Columbus for the remainder of the best-four-out-of-seven series.

St. Paul bunched three of its hits with a Red Bird error to score twice in the seventh inning yesterday. The Birds had snatched an early lead on Don Thompson's single, a walk and Mike Natisin's double in the third.

Champion Colt To Get Vacation

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 — Andy Schuttinger, trainer of Blue Peter, the new two-year-old champion, announced today that the New Jersey colt, which won the Futurity Saturday, will not race again until next season.

Schuttinger does not want to risk an injury to the strapping son of War Admiral, who captured the classic in 1:14 3-5, only a fifth of a second off the world's record for 6 1-2 furlongs.

County Softball Tourney To Open Here Wednesday

Pickaway County softball fans will give one last belated look-see at their sport during the next two weeks when six county schools will vie for championship honors at Ted Lewis Park.

Teams entered in the late season contest are Walnut, Monroe, Perry, New Holland, Darby and Saltcreek.

Walnut is to open the tourney Wednesday night against Monroe at 7:15 p. m., followed by a skirmish between Perry and New Holland.

Only one possible flaw is noted in the single elimination schedule.

That is the semifinals game originally scheduled for Friday night, which may be set back to Thursday. Reason for the possible setback is that Circleville high school takes the field against Westerville here on Friday.

Finals and consolation games are scheduled Monday, the consolation tilt slated as preliminary to the title tilt.

Trophies for first, second and third places are to be awarded.

Father Of Four Dies In Race

ZANESVILLE, Sept. 27 — A family of four children was left today to mourn the death of Donald Howe, 30, Zanesville mid-gate race driver.

He was virtually decapitated by a splintered section of wooden fence when his racer skidded on a turn yesterday.

Ohio High School Grid Scene Hazy On Crown Topic

By International News Service
The line forms on the right for anyone brash enough to claim Barborton's discarded state high school championship toga.

Harry Strobel's Barborton crew, badly riddled by graduation, succumbed last weekend to Akron South, 13 to 0.

Plunged into the spotlight were five perennial leaders in particular. Canton McKinley defeated Warren, a 1947 strongpoint, 25 to 0.

Steubenville's second straight one-sided victory was by 41 to 0 over East Liverpool. Toledo Waite rolled to a 40-to-6 win over Toledo Devilbiss.

Hamilton and Massillon, both under new coaches, continued on their merry and victorious way. The Tigers, who enticed Chuck Mather away from Hamilton, smashed Canton Lincoln, 25 to 0.

The Big Blue, undaunted, trimmed Zanesville, 31 to 7, for Chuck Thackera.

Thackera's former school, Columbus Grandview, also won again, keeping intact its undefeated 1947 record. The latest Grandview victim was Columbus South, 6 to 0.

Alumni Court Parley Booked

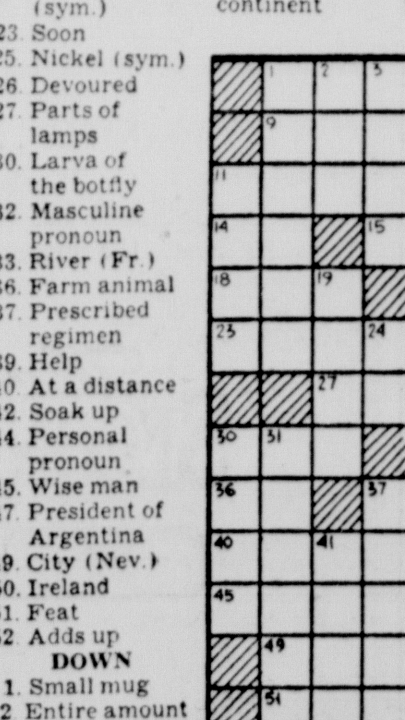

Pickaway County Alumni Basketball League heads are to meet Tuesday night to plan for the coming season.

Meeting will be held in the home of Frank Wilkins on South Scioto street. Wilkins, who master-minded the six-team alumni softball league last Summer, is organizer of the ensuing alumni BB loop.

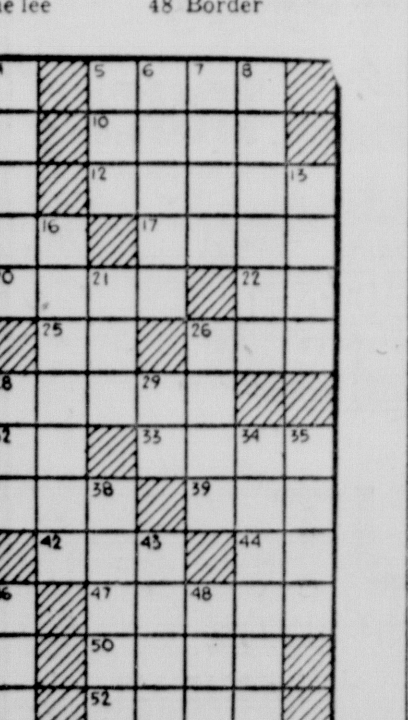

Seven teams—Circleville, Scioto, Saltcreek, Pickaway, Monroe, Walnut and Williamsport—have signed up in the loop to date, and an eighth is expected to join at the Tuesday parley.

Prevention Week Observance Set

Volunteer home and factory inspection to eliminate fire hazards was urged Monday by Circleville Fire Chief Talmer Wise in pointing to National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 2 to 9.

Last year, some 10,000 people lost their lives and $750,000,000 worth of property was destroyed through carelessness in fire prevention, Wise declared.

Most numerous in fire causes are found in negligent cigarette smokers, careless use of matches, improper storage of waste and poor electric wiring facilities.

"Each one of these causes is a potential killer," the chief asserted, "and every citizen should make himself responsible to eliminate them."

WHILE CIRCLEVILLE firemen make periodic fire hazard checks, Chief Wise said his department would stress inspection tours during Fire Prevention Week.

Although fires in cities are most prevalent because of the congested areas and industry, prevention of farm fires has gained new strength due to increased costs of material and labor.

Ralph E. May, president of the Pickaway County National Farm Loan Association, declared farm fires in 1947 ate up $100,000,000 worth of property and claimed 3,500 lives in the United States.

The danger today in farm insurance is that coverage has not increased from what it was five or ten years ago. Valuations in the meantime have skyrocketed, May warned.

"With the modest insurance coverage generally in effect today, most farmers would be severely hit if fire should destroy the farm home or a barn filled with grain, livestock and machinery," the loan official declared.

Both Wise and May joined their efforts to call attention to the necessity of eliminating fire hazards and to carry out the campaign throughout the year.
